

Marcin Barczyński, MD, PhD, FEBS-ES

Professor of Surgery, Head, Department of Endocrine Surgery, Third Chair of General Surgery Jagiellonian University Medical College, Kraków, Poland

Dr. Marcin Barczyński was trained in Poland, Germany and USA and has more than 25 years of experience in general surgery, endocrine surgery, and surgical oncology. He is a Full Professor of Surgery at the Jagiellonian University, Medical College, Department of Endocrine Surgery in Kraków, Poland. Dr. Barczyński has a busy thyroid, parathyroid and adrenal surgical practice, seeing patients and operating patients both in public and private sector. Dr. Barczyński currently serves as President of the European Society of Endocrine Surgeons (ESES), a member of the Steering Committee of the International Neural Monitoring Study Group (INMSG) for Thyroid and Parathyroid Surgery, Secretary of the UEMS Division of Endocrine Surgery of the European Board of Surgery and Councilor of the International Association of Endocrine Surgeons (IAES).

Dr. Barczyński is an active member of numerous scientific societies, including the European Surgical Association (ESA), European Thyroid Association (ETA), and American Association of Endocrine Surgeons (AAES). Dr. Barczyński is the author of more than 214 peer-reviewed publications and book chapters, and he serves on many editorial boards. His citation index is equal to 4221, and h-index is 36. His work in improving surgical outcomes, nerve monitoring and exploring novel treatment techniques for thyroid, parathyroid, and adrenal diseases has helped the medical field tailor and personalize treatment for patients with these conditions.